WEEKS SILENT ON THE STATEMENT OF FORD

Stengel's Homer Wins Game For The Giants

VERY RESENTFUL OF THE ALLEGATIONS
Secretary May Make Statement Later On Ford's Charges
CABINET HEARS CASE DISCUSSED
Ford Declares Weeks Must Explain to Nation's Farmers

(Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Secretary Weeks stepped into today's cabinet meeting last night by Henry Ford, assailing the secretary for his action in the sale of the Muscle Shoals, Ala., property to the Alabama Power company.

Mr. Weeks prior to the cabinet meeting, refused all requests for comment on the statement in which Mr. Ford declared that political influence working through the war secretary, had prevented him from obtaining the Muscle Shoals property and would continue to prevent the acquisition of the Alabama plant.

Officials close to Mr. Weeks indicated that he resented the statement of the Detroit manufacturer and considered it sufficiently grave to take up with the president.

Mr. Coolidge is known to be thoroughly in accord with the action taken by the war department in selling the Gorgas plant to the Alabama Power company for $3,472,487. The position of the president as it has been stated at the white house, is that Mr. Ford be given every opportunity to buy and lease the Muscle Shoals property and that his offer, still before congress, has not been effected by the sale of the Gorgas plant.

Mr. Coolidge after the recent sale of the Gorgas plant, told visitors that the government did not regard the plant as essential to the purposes which Mr. Ford had stated he had in view in acquiring Muscle Shoals.

Administration officials, including the president, have asserted that Mr. Ford could build an auxiliary plant or less than the $3,500,000 represented in the Gorgas sale, which sum, it was announced, would be credited to Mr. Ford on his $5,000,000 cash payment on the property.

They few is that the Ford offer is still before congress and that body must determine the matter.

Mr. Weeks still declined to comment on the Ford statement after the cabinet meeting and his description of the Ford allegation with the president but said he would make a statement during the day.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 12.—Henry Ford's offer for the purchase of the Muscle Shoals project in Alabama is still before congress and will not be withdrawn, Mr. Ford said yesterday in a statement, his first public assertion since the sale of the Gorgas plant to the Alabama Power Company.

Mr. Ford charged that political influence was brought to bear to keep him from obtaining the plant "and these same influences prevented a vote in the house last spring" on the sale of Muscle Shoals to the Ford Motor company.

FORD HAS NOT YET DECIDED ON RACE

(Associated Press)
DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 12.—Henry Ford does not wish to make a definite answer at present as to whether he will be a candidate for President, E. G. Liebhold, his personal secretary, said today, commenting on news from Nebraska that the Detroit manufacturer's name would go on the ballot in the presidential primary election in that state.

WEALTHY MAN IS SHOT SERIOUSLY

(Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Milton A. Maas, wealthy vice president of the Chemical Corporation and resident of Albany Park, N. J., is in a Stamford, Conn., hospital today having been shot last night at South Beach, Conn., home of Mrs. Ida W. Leslie, a widow, and former actress, who says she is his fiancée.

Prosecutor White, of Greenwich, Conn., is making an inquiry. "I went for a walk on the beach with two dogs, leaving Mr. Maas in the living room," said Mrs. Leslie. "A man came in, pulled a gun, and shot at the shrubbery, then at the man. I fled, and he followed me. As he reached the porch the third man fired twice, 'aimed.'"

SUPREME COURT TO MEET NEXT MONTH

The Alabama supreme court will convene on November 12, but cases from the eighth division, including Morgan, probably will not be taken up until early in the new year. One week will be devoted to the hearing of cases from each division.

Local residents are unusually interested in the meeting of the court this session, inasmuch as litigation growing out of the legislative enactment consolidating Albany and Decatur heard in the circuit court here, had been appealed to the state's highest tribunal and a decision is expected to be rendered at the winter term this year.

BAPTIST INSTITUTE IN SESSION TODAY

Dr. Bryan Leading the Discussion of Many Church Problems

VISITORS PRESENT TO HEAR PLANS

Stewardship Subject of Address of the Noted Leader

The stewardship and budget institute called to meet by authorities of the Southern Baptist convention at this city so as to reach as many Baptist leaders as possible with a knowledge of the new program of activities for the church in the Southern convention is now in progress at the First Baptist church of Decatur, with Rev. O. E. Bryan, of Nashville, as its leader.

Dr. Bryan will hold three conferences today one at 3 o'clock p. m. another at 5 o'clock p. m. and the final conference will be at 7 o'clock this evening. The general public is cordially invited to hear Dr. Bryan at the First Baptist church this evening.

Dr. G. C. Davidson, the pastor, stated. Out of town visitors to the conference were Rev. E. Edgar Allen, of Birmingham, Dr. C. L. Hudson of Cullman, Dr. J. R. Stuckey of Sheffield, Dr. R. L. Motley of Florence, Dr. T. M. Byron of Florence, Rev. Arthur Z. Binden of Stevenson, Rev. S. H. Bennett of Montgomery, and W. A. Coffey of Stevenson. Yesterday afternoon the regular class room work began, following addresses made at the earlier session by Dr. Bryan and others.

At 3 o'clock yesterday Dr. Bryan taught the first chapter of Chas. A. Cook's book "Stewardship and Missions."

He layed the foundation for the succeeding lessons, showing that God owns all by right of creation, preservation and recreation.

At the next hour Dr. S. H. Bennett taught the chapter on the Acquisition of Wealth. After the lunch hour yesterday Rev. D. Edgar Allen, enlistment man for Northern Alabama taught the lesson on the "proper use of wealth."

This address was followed by an address by Dr. Bryan on "The Stewardship of the family Relation." The speaker took for his text Ephesians 3:14, 15: "The whole family of God." He spoke of the relationships of God and his children, the responsibility of each member of the family of God to do his own work, which no one else in the world can do since every one has his own.

He impressed his hearers with the idea of the judgment when each individual must give an account of his stewardship and when the mask would be torn off. "There is just one hope," he said "and that is the blood of Jesus Christ."

The speaker gave some fundamentals for the government of the home such as: Begin early, be firm be kind, be prayerful, have no favorites and let the parents agree. In the closing moments the speaker urged proper discipline and confession to bring the churches back to life. He spoke of financing the family, of our "growing pains" and the progress we are making and the ties that bind the home.

CONCERT BY BAND PLEASES BIG CROWD

With the completion of its finale, "Dixie" last evening following about two hours of beautiful concert music the local concert band, directed by Prof. Marston, took a still higher place in the estimation of its many admirers than it had previously held.

The entire program had been lively and inspirational but "Dixie" of course brought out a greater expression of approval than any of the other numbers. The band composed of 35 or more players, was seated on the long front porch of the railroad Y. M. C. A. and many of the large crowd of listeners crowded about the musicians.

EXPRESS OFFICE PLAN UNDECIDED

No Decision Yet Given On Effort to Change Delivery Method

WAITING POLICY STILL PURSUED

Financial Arrangement Made to Pay All Teacher Salaries

The commissioners of the city have been asked by the express companies for their support before the state public service commission, in an effort to secure the abolition of one of the express offices here. The express companies have explained to the commissioners that if allowed to maintain only one office, there will be a considerable saving to the companies. The express people have stated that in case one office is allowed here by the state public service commission, the companies will agree to serve a much larger area with "free call and delivery."

They explain that at the present time packages are called for only in the business sections and in a limited area of the residential sections, but with the new arrangement, the express companies will enlarge the "call and delivery" area, to include practically all of the enlarged city.

At their meeting last night, the commissioners maintained the same attitude toward the proposals of the express companies as in the past, namely, the commission prefers to pursue the "waiting and watching" policy as regards the proposals of the express companies.

The regular routine of business, including a further discussion of the street paving situation, occupied the entire time of the commission last night.

A short informal joint meeting between the city board of education and the members of the commission was held at the opening of last night's meeting which was held at the Railroad street city hall.

At the joint meeting the matter of financing the city schools was taken up, and a temporary arrangement was made whereby the teachers in the city schools are to receive their salaries as usual.

Funeral Held for Mrs. Hugh Vandiver

Funeral services for Mrs. Hugh Vandiver were held from her late residence on Grant street at 9 o'clock this morning by Rev. J. H. Hill and Rev. C. H. Woodruff.

Following the services the funeral company left for Lauderdaleville in Lauderdale county where the interment was had following a final religious service, led by Rev. Hill.

Mrs. Vandiver, who was highly esteemed here is survived by her husband and a number of children.

QUICK CHANGES MADE TODAY IN DAILY'S AUTO CONTEST

Campaigners Working So Energetically for the Three Big Cars and the Other Twelve Prizes. To Be Given Away Free on November 17. Lead Shifts Very Frequently.

A steady advance all along the line marked the campaign yesterday in the race for The Decatur Daily's three automobiles and 12 merchandise prizes to be given away on Nov. 17. It is surprising at the progress of the campaign from day to day. Thus far never in all the experience of the campaign management has there been so many different candidates so evenly matched in a newspaper contest.

Mrs. Libby Berryhill of Moulton and Miss Louise Byars of Athens were given boosts by friends yesterday.

When several reports come into the office maybe one or two will be a few dollars higher than the other and then the contest office thinks possibly there will be a new leader after all, and when the next group of candidates reach the office, they completely change the leadership all around, and so it goes. Who will win the big Buick Four and the other prizes is a question that cannot be decided at this time for there is a new leader every day, and the peculiar part about this contest change in leadership is that the new leaders are invariably candidates who have either just started out themselves or who have only recently entered the race.

All Decatur and the surrounding country join in the race for the three

ELLENEN PRESIDENT IS A VISITOR HERE

Railroad Officials On Way South Stop Short Time

ROAD MAY PLACE FURTHER ORDERS

President Mapother Is Accompanied by Other Officers

For the first time in recent years the highest officials of the Louisville and Nashville, railroad paid a visit to their properties at this point when W. L. Mapother, president of the system, Henry Walters, chairman of the board of directors and George Evans, vice president and general manager of operations passed through here.

These officials were accompanied by a number of other high officials of the system. They were all on board a special train that stopped in the Louisville and Nashville shop yards here for a short while. The engine which pulled the special train, was exchanged here.

The following from the Age-Herald tells of the optimism felt there:

The fact that the Louisville and Nashville railroad has entered the market for a large tonnage of materials including 2,300 cars interested local industrial circles Thursday. Coming simultaneously with the visit of President Mapother of that road and his associates as well as Henry Walters the veteran chairman of the board, the information had special significance. The officials went to the Fairfield car works of the Tennessee company and all of them showed interest and concern in the operations there.

The fact that the Louisville and Nashville railroad has never failed to procure as much of the requirements in Birmingham as could possibly be secured, accounted also for the optimism that prevailed in local industrial circles that the Tennessee company would share largely in the millions that have been secured for new equipment. Although no information was available in Birmingham Thursday it is understood that Tennessee company sales experts were greatly interested in the plans of the Louisville and Nashville and confidently believed that their product would win a very fair share of that business. It is stated that the Louisville and Nashville has been very much pleased with the workmanship and quality of the cars purchased here.

The fact that the Chicago steel markets shows such improvement coupled with reassuring news from eastern newspaper regarding large loans for equipment, caused the decrease in United States steel tonnage, as reported, to be without pessimistic influence in Birmingham. It is believed that the local plants have a very substantial booking of tonnage at this time which assures operations at a very satisfactory rate for some time.

Dr. Duncan Will Lecture Tonight

The Ninth street Methodist church has invited Dr. James A. Duncan, pastor of the First Methodist church to lecture at the church this evening, when a large concourse of people is expected out to hear the distinguished local speaker.

It is stated Dr. Duncan will speak in humorous vein this evening taking as his subject "Why We Laugh?"

Dr. Duncan is known best as a careful thinker and forceful speaker on the "weightier matters of the law," but it is understood he can also reach the heights of humor and talk about things that are funny, as well as the best professionals in that line of endeavor.

(Associated Press)
YANKEE STADIUM, Oct. 12.—For the first time since the 1923 world series began, Gotham today was in baseball fever. Lured by the call of the mighty bat of Babe Ruth, coaxed on by the knowledge that at least a New York Yankee team could stand toe to toe and take it with a New York Giant outfit, the town passed from semi-lagartich condition in which it has viewed previous installments of fight, and went baseball mad.

Since the word went out last night that Babe Ruth had finally arrived as a ball punching world series hitter, and that the series stood at a dead heat, fans caught on, so today they came. At 12:00 the bleacher gates were closed and thousands who stood in lines six abreast outside edged up for the higher priced seats of the grandstand.

The Yankees, their confidence fully restored, cognizant that they hold an edge with the series even, four of the Giant pitchers down and Ruth, at last in his seven league boot stride, were on the field early.

The crowd rose to greet them with roaring cheers. At one o'clock all the gates, except those to the reserved seats, were closed and the police began to disperse howling mobs lined up for the bleachers and the upper tiers of the grand stand.

First consternation and then anger and finally despair hit the disappointed ones. They leisurely walked toward the subway entrance, until someone shouted "Well it's the scoreboard then" and a mad rush for the downtown trains began. It was evident at this time that the biggest crowd in the history of the world series would witness the third game of the series.

First inning—Giants: Bancroft flied out to Meusel. Scott tumbled Groh's grounder and the batter was safe. Frisch flied out to Witt. Young lined out to Witt who came in fast to make the catch. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Yankees—Frisch tossed out Witt at first. Bancroft threw out Dugan. Ruth up. The crowd cheered. Ruth singled over second. Meusel flied out to his brother. The ball almost went into the left field stands. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Second inning—Giants—Meusel flied out to brother Bob. Witt took Stengel's fly. Kelly sent a high one to Scott. No runs no hits, no errors.

Yankees—Pipp fouled to Kelly. Ward popped to Snyder. Schang flied to Bancroft. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Third inning—Giants: Scott took Snyder's hopper and threw him out. Nehf fanned. Scott threw out a Bancroft. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Yankees—Bancroft made a nice stop of Scott's grounder and got him at first. Jones struck out. Witt struck out on three pitched balls. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Fourth inning—Giants: Scott threw out Groh. Frisch beat out a bunt for the Giant's first hit. Young flied to Ruth. Meusel flied out to Ruth who caught the ball near the fence. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Yankees—Dugan sent a long hit to right for two bases. Babe walked. Meusel hit into a double play, Bancroft to Frisch to Kelly. Dugan went to third. Frisch threw out Pipp. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Fifth inning—Giants: Stengel strolled to first. Kelly hit into a double play Jones to Scott to Pipp. Scott threw out Snyder. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Yankees—Both pitchers were going great. Ward ripped a single to left. Schang forced Ward. Groh to Frisch. Scott scratched an infield hit. Jones hit into a double play. Frisch to Bancroft to Kelly. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Sixth inning—Giants: Nehf grounded out to Pipp, unassisted. Bancroft got a base on balls. Groh fouled out to Dugan. Frisch singled into left. Bancroft going to second. Ward threw out Young, making a nice play of it. No runs, one hit, no errors.

TAX OFFICIALS TO VISIT ALL PRECINCTS

According to the law, beginning Monday, Tax Collector J. H. Hill and Tax Assessor H. O. Troup will start their annual visitation of all the 25 precincts in Morgan county. It is required of these officials that they give every tax payer in the county an opportunity to meet them personally.

Accordingly Messrs. Hill and Troup will spend not less than one day at each of the voting precincts. The old custom was to make two trips each year to all parts of the county, but for a number of years only one annual "round" has been made.

When the taxpayers meet the tax collector and the tax assessor they are allowed to make suggestions as to the rightful valuation of their property for the tax books; also all tax payers are allowed to pay their taxes at any time between October 15 and January of next year, when the taxes will become delinquent.

Messrs. Hill and Troup will spend six days at Hartsville, three days at Falkville, and so on over the entire county. It is estimated it will take fully 45 days for the tax officials to visit all the precincts of Morgan county.

Jurors Called by The County Court

The Morgan County court, Judge William T. Lowe, presiding will convene Monday morning for a two weeks session during which time it is expected many civil cases will be tried and some criminal cases. The following jury has been selected for the first term of the court.

Walter M. Chennault, E. L. Thomas, Forest P. Petty, J. O. A. Thompson, Sr., Alonzo Prince, Jno. O. Burleson, Sr., J. Arch Wright, S. Herbert Maxwell, Joe McDougal, W. Tom Johnson, Rube G. ## CLARKSON GAINS ANOTHER DISTINCTION

The wire message of yesterday telling that this city's most noted singer, Margaret Clarkson, has gained still another distinction will be read with pride by Decatur people. Her beautiful voice is now to be used in the radio concerts sent out from Newark. Those who have heard this noted artist sing many times here in her home town may always prefer her natural voice to her musical voice as it is heard via radio; but it will be one of the distinct pleasures of the people here to hear Miss Clarkson at long distance just as often as possible. Those who get the Newark concerts here who remember the voice of Miss Clarkson as she sang here before going to New York the last time express themselves as being delighted with the quality and power of the voice of the artist as it is reflected in the wireless messages.

The people here are not only proud of the success of Miss Clarkson, but they are grateful that she has brought such distinction and honor to this city.

FLAG DISPLAY AT THE SCHOOLS

Attention is called to a new law upon the statute books of Alabama which requires that "all schools in this state that are supported in whole or in part by public funds" shall "display every day on which school is in session, at some suitable place about the school building, the flag of the United States and the flag of the State of Alabama." Teachers and superintendents are required to make monthly reports stating that the law has been observed. Section 3 of the act provides that "teachers in the State subject to the provisions of this act shall not be allowed to draw public funds unless the provisions of this act are complied with."

While the latter provision may serve to add impressiveness to the importance of proper display of the national and state colors before Alabama's school children most teachers and boards of education have in the past been doing their duty in this regard. School buildings where the flag is not displayed are rare. While the state flag has not been so generally used, it too, is a familiar object to most school children of Alabama. The purpose sought in the new law is commendable. It is well that there be reverence for the flags which are emblematic of nation and state, and closely associated with a spirit of patriotism.—Age-Herald.

LINE UPON LINE: OUR FIRE LOSS AND ENGLAND'S

The best teachers are those who can repeat the truth to an advantage. There cannot be too much line upon line precept, here a little and there a little in the matter of anti-fire propaganda. This appears true often from the statistics given out and from the speeches of Messrs. Dix and Rankin at the public schools. But especially should it be realized that this country needs a lot of teaching against fires when it is known that whereas the fire loss in England was only 72 cents per capita last year, America's was $4.75 per capita! In other words, between six and seven times as great. If such comparisons will not make burlesque, it is safe to say the community is progressing and on the march forward.

fire, what will? About 17,000 were injured by fires in this country and about 15,000 met death because of fire. As a rule, the people who have suffered most from fires have been the women and children. Thousands of them have been burned with ugly scars that will remain with them as long as life lasts.

It is important to remember that about 80 per cent of all fire loss in America is needless, and that carelessness is at the bottom of much of the fire loss. Because these things are true is it any wonder "fire prevention week" is being observed? It is certainly high time something was being done against the fire demon.

Individuals and families, officers and citizens should give this matter of fire prevention more than ordinary attention.

England, 72 cents per capita loss from fire; America, $4.75 fire loss per capita.

CHURCH LEADERS ADVISE METHOD AND DEFINITE PLANS

The city has just been honored by a visit from the Bishop Coadjutor of the Episcopal Church in Alabama, from Rev. Middleton S. Barnwell, a leading rector of that church, and from Mrs. Pope, leading worker among the women of the Episcopal church in this state.

The distinguished visitors mentioned are members of the "Flying Squadron" of their church charged with the responsibility of aiding the church membership generally, in carrying into effect plans for the annual national campaign of the Episcopal church.

The members of the Flying Squadron explained that each year a definite plan of work in all the departments of the church should be discussed and mapped out by the membership of each church with a view of carrying out a larger program of accomplishment each year.

Irrespective of religious denomination, nearly all church leaders throughout the country are urging the membership of the churches to undertake a definite work, just as have the Episcopal visitors.

The tendency seems universal toward more businesslike methods and more definite efforts among the church people. This would seem to be as it should. Order is said to be heaven's first take to do things in a systematic manner larger law, and when any organization of people understand more enduring results may be confidently expected.

COMMITTEES OF PUBLIC BODIES INDEX OF THEIR COMMUNITIES

There is scarcely a week passes in any community when some body of men does not cause a committee to be appointed for some definite purpose. Broadly speaking, committees may be divided into two kinds—those that accomplish what they are expected to do, and those who do not.

But it must be kept in mind all the while that the committees are not reasonably expected always to do all they are asked to do. It must be remembered also that where reasonable tasks have been set, the committees asked to accomplish them are not very often to blame for a failure to get action.

Generally speaking, committees are very useful. They often serve as final resting places for undesirable and impracticable suggestions made by jealous persons but who failed to conceive his plans according to knowledge.

Sometimes committees are asked to do things that are not worth doing, but this seldom happens. A committee appointed under a resolution passed by a body of men often happens to know that the resolution does not contain the real "resolve" of the body that allowed it to pass.

The procedure of appointing committees to carry out the expressed will of an assembly has become so common that it comes about that nearly all the forward moves of a city or community are brought about by the action of committees. The committee that receives the plaudit "well done," is the one that reports to the assembly that appointed it, not just some recommendation, but that "your will has been accomplished."

Most committees have a few safe and sane and confirmed "committee chairmen"—and they are very frequently appointed as the head of the various important committees. It is safe to say that if a community from month to month and from year to year causes committees to be appointed that habitually report "nothing done," the community is pretty well satisfied that nothing further be done.

On the other hand, the community that is in the habit of having committees that bring things to pass, it is safe to say the community is progressing and on the march forward.

And It Does a Humming Business.
The mosquito would make a good advertiser because it is not satisfied with just one insertion.

industrial problems. But the injury has shot past Henry Ford and has landed on the farmers.

"I was willing to demonstrate at Muscle Shoals that power and fertilizer could be produced at much lower cost than now and that the government could be assured of an adequate supply of war nitrates. Muscle Shoals intact would be the greatest munition plant on earth. Muscle Shoals in its nitrate reduction is our greatest insurance against war or if war comes our greatest assurance of victory—but apparently that does not count with the head of the war department. The Ford Motor company never has needed Muscle Shoals. We have water power sufficient for all our purposes. The only thing I could do at Muscle Shoals, which I am not able to do elsewhere, would be to make fertilizer for the farmers. And that is the sole reason why John W. Weeks and scores of corporation lawyers have exerted their cunning game to prevent me. The influences that prevented a vote in the house last spring are responsible for the sale of the Gorgas plant to revert a vote on Gorgas."

Priced Smallest Item.

"They may get other offers for other pieces of Muscle Shoals and the total sales price may compare favorably with the initial payment called for under my offer but the sales price is the smallest item at Muscle Shoals. Even if the friends of John W. Weeks should pay the original cost, dollar for dollar, Muscle Shoals would still be a complete loss to the people, because John W. Weeks' friends will not develop its matchless possibilities and will not use it for the public benefit. It would be well worth while for the waterpower and fertilizer financiers who control this situation to pay $100,000,000, if they can retain the endless millions which they now make through exorbitant prices of power and fertilizer. The demonstration which we could make at Muscle Shoals would be a death blow to all such exploitation.

"My offer is still before congress. I shall not withdraw it. There is nothing whatever for me to explain. There is nothing that John W. Weeks can explain, though he should talk from now until he leaves public life, but I want to say this: If I get Muscle Shoals we shall run power lines 200 miles in every direction from Muscle Shoals. We have been working and have learned how to send power long distances without losses by lineages. I say this now for the benefit of the international financiers who with the Alabama power company have Muscle Shoals almost hopelessly in their grasp.

"It is not to me that John W. Weeks has anything to explain. I know just how much value to attach to his explanations. Let him explain to the farmers."

MALONE TELLS OF RICH PECOS VALLEY

The resources of the Pecos Valley, New Mexico, and how its inhabitants conserve those resources was explained this morning, by Ross Malone, brother of B. L. and Charles Malone, and who twenty-three years ago left this city for his present home in Roswell, New Mexico.

After expressing his pleasure at the forward steps being taken here and contrasting the "old wooden school building" in which he and Commissioner W. A. Britain studied, to the present handsome new school building, Mr. Malone said that the Pecos Valley, of which Roswell is the metropolis, is going about the matter of a livelihood, liberty pursuits and the quest of happiness in general.

Mr. Malone said that alfalfa growth was indulged in with energy among his people and that money was realized from the sale of alfalfa hay than from any other one of the "money crops."

Apple culture comes next and from 1,000 to 1,500 car loads of apples are shipped out of the Valley every year. A few dozen car loads of peaches are sold by the neighbors of Mr. Malone. Third in the list of "money getters" for the natives is the great cattle industry, and the large heavy weight Herefords with the white faces and red bodies are raised by the farmers.

Mr. Malone said that over $1,000,000 worth of wool was sold from the backs of the sheep of his home valley. He said the sheepmen were making money now.

Necessity is the mother of cooperation on Roswell apple farms as the people have decided to raise apples without consulting "Jack Frost." In other words the "smudge" is used against the son of the Ice King.

Asked what "smudging" meant, Mr. Malone spoke in part as follows:

"Smudging is treating the atmosphere of an orchard with the heat and smoke and fumes of fuel oil, as it burns in iron pots under the apple trees."

"We have stocked the orchards of Pecos Valley with a full supply of iron pots that will hold close to two gallons, and we put from 60 to 100 pots to an acre, all filled with crude oil."

"Then we get in touch with the U. S. Weather Bureau. While we are waiting for word as to the approach of Jack Frost, it has been found necessary for the business people of Roswell to co-operate very closely with the farmers so as to furnish a sufficient force of men, to fight off the frost when it comes. Last year I was named to get up volunteers in Roswell to take fast moving automobiles to the country at the word of the weather men, here to assist the apple farmers. When our volunteers would arrive at the orchards on the evening the frost was expected, they would all be given two outfits. One set of men would take gasoline, as it lights quickly and place a little on the oil in the hundreds of pots."

"Behind this company comes the second one, with a torch lighted such as we used to carry in political processions here, the flame from the torch sets off the gasoline and crude oil, and before you know it hundreds of acres of orchards are enveloped in a smoke screen that drives the frost away."

Mr. Malone explained that just freezing 32 degrees was not cold enough to destroy little apples in the bloom, but that when the weather man said the temperature was going down around 28, 26 and 24, everybody got busy and did some team work.

Morgan Children Placed in Homes

The Atlanta Children's Aid society has had its representative Miss F. Foster in the Tennessee Valley during this week, looking after needy children. Miss Foster has taken two of the children from the almshouse with their mother there. The mother had been found living with the children in a forsaken hovel which had no floor located in the government forest near Moulton. The father had become insane and had been removed to the state hospital at Tusculloosa. Miss Foster also took two children from Morgan County to the Aid Society authorities at Birmingham.

Children Required to Attend School

Period of compulsory attendance: All pupils from 8 to 16 years of age are required to attend school during the period of compulsory attendance, which will begin next Monday morning, October 15th. It will continue for five months or 100 school days. This period was postponed this year until the beginning of the second month, October 15th by the consent of the State superintendent of education, and the hope that additional room would be available in the new building. The new buildings are not ready, but we are not authorized to postpone compulsory attendance longer. W. Benson, Superintendent of schools.

SCAR TELLS WOMAN'S AGE

Size of Vaccination Mark, Bared by Sleeveless Gown, Shows Period of Incubation.

Twenty years ago when the popular wave of smallpox vaccination swept the land, and when every school girl bared her arm for the medical process that necessitated a permanent scar, it is probable that neither mothers nor doctors foresaw the coming of the present-day fashions in sleeveless gowns.

Those were the days of trailing skirts, bustles, long sleeves and high feminine collars, and when the doctor inquired of the solicitous mother as to where he should put the mark upon the little girl the mother felt quite safe in choosing a position so well concealed as the upper arm.

Few mothers of those days could believe that a scar upon the arm well up toward the shoulder would ever find its way into the light of public attention, but the passing of years, with the consequent changing of styles, has brought about circumstances that were unexpected, and the marks are at last out in the open, exposed to the gaze of whoever cares to look.

Observing persons assert they have little difficulty in telling the age of a young woman merely by noting the kind and size of vaccination scar. The doctors at one time thought it necessary to make marks the size of a half dollar, but with the passing of years they became smaller and smaller until now a scratch that is almost invisible is all the process requires. The girl whose vaccination mark corresponds to the size of a dime belongs to a different period from the girl with the nickel mark, the quarter mark or the half-dollar mark, and with the donning of the sleeveless gown she feels that her age is stamped indelibly upon her.

The modern physician's system marks an advance in surgical science that will be appreciated by the debutante a decade or so hence.

BOYS OF 1,400 YEARS AGO

Field Museum at Chicago Has Beautiful Chinese Painting Which Shows Youngsters at Play.

In a room of Chinese art relics in the Field Museum of Natural History at Chicago hangs a curious, beautiful painting on silk, called "A Hundred Boys at Play." It is a panel, many yards long, which was made during the Sung period of Chinese history, about 1,400 years ago, by an artist named Su Hanchen.

There you may see a hundred Chinese boys busily occupied with indoor and outdoor pastimes. And from the expressions on their little painted faces it seems that they are about as boisterously happy at their play as boys of the present day. The interesting part is to see that the games they played in China so long ago were the same sort that boys play now.

Those boys even seemed to know a form of football, for you see boys scrambling for a kicked ball. Others are wrestling, shooting at targets, playing war and amusing themselves with fighting crickets. Still others are engaged in less active sports, such as playing chess, riding hobby horses, flying kites, dancing and playing the organ and lute.

On one bank sits a boy with a fishing pole. Across from him a Chinese friend has set up a store and is a merchant.

Disillusioned.

She had come to New York to study art. She was only sixteen, and when she heard that her roommate was to be a Spanish girl she was thrilled. She was really seeing life, to be in New York and to have a romantic, ardent Spaniard for a roommate. Perhaps she would even stab a lover or two.

The woman saw the young girl the other day. "And your roommate? Is she exciting?" the woman asked. "Exciting?" sneered the girl, "anything but! She practices scales so diligently I feel as though I'll go mad, and she's so proper and modest that she even wears high-necked and long-sleeved nightgowns made of thick cotton."—New York Sun and Globe.

Powdered "Pharaoh" Wanted. Powdered "Pharaoh" was one of the sovereign remedies of medieval times. It cured wounds. It was made into salves and balsams. It was swallowed as a physic. It formed the basis of all the black arts.

Othello's handkerchief owed its magic power to dyes made from mummified maidens' hearts. The witches in "Macbeth" gave potency to their charmed brew by adding powdered mummy. To such an extent was tomb-robbing carried on even in ancient times that mummies of the great kings were taken from their own tombs and hidden away in secret places, while proxies were left in their stead.—Detroit News.

The Honest Neighbor. At dusk a suburbanite headed sheepishly across to the next abode, called out the occupant and said: "Mr. Wombat, I want to return your lawn mower."

Wombat declined to take it, whereupon the other man was much perturbed.

"I know I have kept it a long time," he murmured, "Pardon me and let me return it."

To which Wombat responded: "I must be honest with you. I had only one lawn mower and neighbors have already returned six."

Thought for the Day.

Life is a game of give and take, and the reason some people do not get more out of it is because they take more than they give.

COOLIDGE OPENS RED CROSS CONVENTION

Famous Clown Once a Butcher

It sounds like a long jump from cutting up meat to cutting up antics in a circus tent. But it was only a short skip for Joe Marble. He was once a cut-up in a Virginia butcher shop and later became engaged by the circus to follow the same vocation for the big show. Now he is one of the merriest clown cut-ups that ever entertained a circus audience.

A few seasons ago, Marble chanced to overhear Manager Charles Sparks telling one of the circus executives to hire some more good clowns immediately. And right then and there Joe decided that he would wield a butcher's knife no longer if he could help it. "I know where there's the funniest clown you ever saw," said Marble to the proprietor in his office on the circus train that night. "Who is he?" he asked Mr. Sparks. "You're looking at him," replied Joe to the amazement of the boss. To make a long story short, Marble was reluctantly given a try-out. He was persistent and made good with a vengeance. Today he is probably the highest salaried pantomime artist in the world of white-tops and his fame has reached far and wide. Joe will visit Decatur with the Sparks Circus Friday, Oct. 19. There are forty other members of the laughing brigade included in the list of over a show.

The management has retained the greatest features of former years and made many additions to this season's performances, including a notable display of trained wild beasts.

Beautiful women, handsome horses and scores of interesting wild animals in the Sparks zoo will be seen in the splendid mile-long street parade at 10:30 on the morning of circus day. Three brass bands and two steam calliopes will furnish music for this feature.

Performances begin at 2 and 8 p. m. and the public will be admitted one hour earlier to visit the comprehensive menagerie. Seats may be secured at the Alabama Drug Store on circus day at the same price charged at the show grounds.

A Heluva Fix

Dear Customers: Some miscreant used the office cat's typewriter a few days ago and broke off a letter that is essential to getting out this department's delight as any other is the alphabet. We are placed in the unfortunate predicament of not being able to tell what letter it is, but whatever letter should be substituted on account of the miscreant's offense that is missing. Until needed repairs are made the office cat is going to be handicapped. This is the only excuse I have to offer for the foregoing. You can understand just how we are handicapped and we are just as sorry as you are. Maybe more so. You'll have to pardon the way this affair looks today. We can't help it.

A man would have his shoes shined oftener that he does if it wasn't for the fact that he can always find one of his wife's stockings lying around the bedroom to rub his shoes off with.

That writer who says there is no logical reason for the steady increase of divorce should study the pile of tin cans in the alley.

Life, is just taking one darned substitute after another.

Statistics show that the cigarette has made the cigar unpopular. You might have supposed that the cigar's unpopularity was its own fault. It is because comparatively few men have the nerve to borrow a cigar.

Advertising takes the burn out of put's the boom in business.

If you're "agin" everything you're a conservative; if you're for everything you're a progressive.

To keep the neighbors from worrying, it has been suggested that the words "paid for" be painted on the spare tires of all motor cars not mugged.

Something to be thankful for: the syrup and two-story biscuit crop isn't going to be a failure.

You can't make a good job of painting the town red with water colors.

Again the Malady of Youth. Our recent note on James Russell Lowell's confession of youthful indiscretion has led a correspondent to send us the following quotation from the letters of Franklin K. Lane: "Although an 'aged man,' as I was once described in my hearing, I am the youngest thing inside that I know, in my honesty and my truthfulness and my imagination and my desire to help my belief in goodness and justice." ## CLARKSON GAINS ANOTHER DISTINCTION

The wire message of yesterday telling that this city's most noted singer, Margaret Clarkson, has gained still another distinction will be read with pride by Decatur people. Her beautiful voice is now to be used in the radio concerts sent out from Newark. Those who have heard this noted artist sing many times here in her home town may always prefer her natural voice to her musical voice as it is heard via radio; but it will be one of the distinct pleasures of the people here to hear Miss Clarkson at long distance just as often as possible. Those who get the Newark concerts here who remember the voice of Miss Clarkson as she sang here before going to New York the last time express themselves as being delighted with the quality and power of the voice of the artist as it is reflected in the wireless messages.

The people here are not only proud of the success of Miss Clarkson, but they are grateful that she has brought such distinction and honor to this city.

FLAG DISPLAY AT THE SCHOOLS

Attention is called to a new law upon the statute books of Alabama which requires that "all schools in this state that are supported in whole or in part by public funds" shall "display every day on which school is in session, at some suitable place about the school building, the flag of the United States and the flag of the State of Alabama." Teachers and superintendents are required to make monthly reports stating that the law has been observed. Section 3 of the act provides that "teachers in the State subject to the provisions of this act shall not be allowed to draw public funds unless the provisions of this act are complied with."

While the latter provision may serve to add impressiveness to the importance of proper display of the national and state colors before Alabama's school children most teachers and boards of education have in the past been doing their duty in this regard. School buildings where the flag is not displayed are rare. While the state flag has not been so generally used, it too, is a familiar object to most school children of Alabama. The purpose sought in the new law is commendable. It is well that there be reverence for the flags which are emblematic of nation and state, and closely associated with a spirit of patriotism.—Age-Herald.

LINE UPON LINE: OUR FIRE LOSS AND ENGLAND'S

The best teachers are those who can repeat the truth to an advantage. There cannot be too much line upon line precept, here a little and there a little in the matter of anti-fire propaganda. This appears true often from the statistics given out and from the speeches of Messrs. Dix and Rankin at the public schools. But especially should it be realized that this country needs a lot of teaching against fires when it is known that whereas the fire loss in England was only 72 cents per capita last year, America's was $4.75 per capita! In other words, between six and seven times as great. If such comparisons will not make much of a difference in the minds of the people, let us at least have a line upon line precept and on the march forward.

fire, what will? About 17,000 were injured by fires in this country and about 15,000 met death because of fire. As a rule, the people who have suffered most from fires have been the women and children. Thousands of them have been burned with ugly scars that will remain with them as long as life lasts.

It is important to remember that about 80 per cent of all fire loss in America is needless, and that carelessness is at the bottom of much of the fire loss. Because these things are true is it any wonder "fire prevention week" is being observed? It is certainly high time something was being done against the fire demon.

Individuals and families, officers and citizens should give this matter of fire prevention more than ordinary attention.

England, 72 cents per capita loss from fire; America, $4.75 fire loss per capita.

CHURCH LEADERS ADVISE METHOD AND DEFINITE PLANS

The city has just been honored by a visit from the Bishop Coadjutor of the Episcopal Church in Alabama, from Rev. Middleton S. Barnwell, a leading rector of that church, and from Mrs. Pope, leading worker among the women of the Episcopal church in this state.

The distinguished visitors mentioned are members of the "Flying Squadron" of their church charged with the responsibility of aiding the church membership generally, in carrying into effect plans for the annual national campaign of the Episcopal church.

The members of the Flying Squadron explained that each year a definite plan of work in all the departments of the church should be discussed and mapped out by the membership of each church with a view of carrying out a larger program of accomplishment each year.

Irrespective of religious denomination, nearly all church leaders throughout the country are urging the membership of the churches to undertake a definite work, just as have the Episcopal visitors.

The tendency seems universal toward more businesslike methods and more definite efforts among the church people. This would seem to be as it should. Order is said to be heaven's first take to do things in a systematic manner larger law, and when any organization of people under and more enduring results may be confidently expected.

COMMITTEES OF PUBLIC BODIES INDEX OF THEIR COMMUNITIES

There is scarcely a week passes in any community when some body of men does not cause a committee to be appointed for some definite purpose. Broadly speaking, committees may be divided into two kinds—those that accomplish what they are expected to do, and those who do not.

But it must be kept in mind all the while that the committees are not reasonably expected always to do all they are asked to do. It must be remembered also that where reasonable tasks have been set, the committees asked to accomplish them are not very often to blame for a failure to get action.

Generally speaking, committees are very useful. They often serve as final resting places for undesirable and impracticable suggestions made by jealous persons but who failed to conceive his plans according to knowledge.

Sometimes committees are asked to do things that are not worth doing, but this seldom happens. A committee appointed under a resolution passed by a body of men often happens to know that the resolution does not contain the real "resolve" of the body that allowed it to pass.

The procedure of appointing committees to carry out the expressed will of an assembly has become so common that it comes, about that nearly all the forward moves of a city or community are brought about by the action of committees. The committee that receives the plaudits "well done," is the one that reports to the assembly that appointed it, not just some recommendation, but that "your will has been accomplished."

Most committees have a few safe and sane and confirmed "committee chairmen"—and they are very frequently appointed as the head of the various important committees. It is safe to say that if a community from month to month and from year to year causes committees to be appointed that habitually report "nothing done," the community is pretty well satisfied that nothing further be done.

On the other hand, the community that is in the habit of having committees that bring things to pass, it is safe to say the community is progressing.

And It Does a Humming Duvence.
The mosquito would make a good advertiser because it is not satisfied with just one insertion.

industrial problems. But the injury has shot past Henry Ford and has landed on the farmers.

"I was willing to demonstrate at Muscle Shoals that power and fertilizer could be produced at much lower cost than now and that the government could be assured of an adequate supply of war nitrates. Muscle Shoals intact would be the greatest munition plant on earth. Muscle Shoals in its nitrate reduction is our greatest insurance against war or if war comes our greatest assurance of victory—but apparently that does not count with the head of the war department. The Ford Motor company never has needed Muscle Shoals. We have water power sufficient for all our purposes. The only thing I could do at Muscle Shoals which I am not able to do elsewhere, would be to make fertilizer for the farmers. And that is the sole reason why John W. Weeks and scores of corporation lawyers have exerted their cunning game to prevent me. The same influences that prevented a vote in the house last spring are responsible for the sale of the Gorgas plant to revert a vote on Gorgas."

Priced Smallest Item.
"They may get other offers for other pieces of Muscle Shoals and the total sales price may compare favorably with the initial payment called for under my offer but the sales price is the smallest item at Muscle Shoals. Even if the friends of John W. Weeks should pay the original cost, dollar for dollar, Muscle Shoals would still be a complete loss to the people, because John W. Weeks' friends will not develop its matchless possibilities and will not use it for the public benefit. It would be well worth while for the people to buy it."

waterpower and fertilizer financiers who control this situation to pay $100,000,000, if thereby they can retain the endless millions which they now make through exorbitant prices of power and fertilizer. The demonstration which we could make at Muscle Shoals would be a death blow to all such exploitation.

"My offer is still before congress. I shall not withdraw it. There is nothing whatever for me to explain. There is nothing that John W. Weeks can explain, though he should talk from now until he leaves public life, but I wanters.

"It is not to me that John W. Weeks has anything to explain. I know just how much value to attach to his explanations. Let him explain to the farmers.

MALONE TELLS OF RICH PECOS VALLEY

The resources of the Pecos Valley, New Mexico, and how its inhabitants conserve those resources was explained this morning, by Rosa Malone, daughter of B. L. and Charles Malone, and who twenty-three years ago left this city for his present home in Roswell, New Mexico.

After expressing his pleasure at the forward steps being taken here and contrasting the "old wooden school building" in which he and Commissioner W. A. Britton studied, to the present handsome new high school building now almost completed, Mr. Malone explained how people in the Pecos Valley, of which Roswell is the metropolis, go about the matter of a livelihood, liberty pursuits and the quest of happiness in general.

Mr. Malone said that alfalfa grows

ing was indulged in with energy among his people and that money was realized from the sale of alfalfa hay than from any other one of the "money crops."

Apple culture comes next and from 1,000 to 1,500 car loads of apples are shipped out of the Valley every year. A few dozen car loads of peaches are sold by the neighbors of Mr. Malone. Third in the list of "money getters" for the natives is the great cattle industry, and the large heavy weight Herefords with the white faces and red bodies are raised by the farmers.

Mr. Malone said over a $1,000,000 worth of wool was sold from the backs of the sheep of his home valley. He said the sheepmen were making money now.

Necessity is the mother of cooperation on Roswell apple farms as the people have decided to raise apples without consulting "Jack Frost." In other words the "smudge" is used against the son of the Ice King.

Asked what "smudging" meant, Mr. Malone spoke in part as follows: "Smudging" is treating the atmosphere of an orchard with the heat and smoke and fumes of fuel oil, as it burns in iron pots under the apple trees.

"We have stocked the orchards of Pecos Valley with a full supply of iron pots that will hold close to 100 gallons, and we put from 50 to 100 pots to an acre, all filled with crude oil."

"Then we get in touch with the U. S. Weather Bureau. While we are waiting for word as to the approach of Jack Frost it has been found necessary for the business people of Roswell to co-operate very closely with the farmers so as to furnish a sufficient force of men, to fight off the frost when it comes. Last year I was named to get up volunteers in Roswell to take fast-moving automobiles to the country at the word of the weather men, there to assist the apple farmers. When our volunteers would arrive at the orchards on the evening the frost was expected, they would all be given two outfits. One set of men would take gasoline, as it lights quickly and place a little on the oil in the hundreds of pots.

"Behind this company comes the second one, with a torch lighted such as we used to carry in political processions here, the flame from the torch sets off the gasoline and crude oil, and before you know it hundreds of acres of orchards are enveloped in a smoke screen that drives the frost away."

Mr. Malone explained that just freezing 32 degrees was not cold enough to destroy little apples in the bloom, but that when the weather man said the temperature was going down around 28, 26 and 24, everybody got busy and did some team work.

Morgan Children
Placed in Homes

The Alabama Children's Aid society has had its representative Miss North Foster in the Tennessee Valley during this week, looking after needy children. Miss Foster has taken two of the children from the alms house with their mother there. The mother had been found living with the children in a forsaken hovel which had no floor located in the government forest near Moulton. The father had become insane and had been removed to the state hospital at Tuscaloosa, Miss Foster also took two children from Morgan County to the Aid Society authorities at Birmingham.

Children Required to Attend School

Period of compulsory attendance! All pupils from 8 to 16 years of age are required to attend school during the period of compulsory attendance, which will begin next Monday morning, October 15th. It will continue for five months or 100 school days. This period was postponed this year until the beginning of the second month, October 15th by the consent of the State superintendent of education, and the hope that additional room would be available in the new building. The new buildings are not ready, but we are not authorized to postpone compulsory attendance. W. Benson, Superintendent of schools.

SCAR TELLS WOMAN'S AGE

Size of Vaccination Mark, Bared by Sleeveless Gown, Shows Period of Incubation.

Twenty years ago when the popular wave of smallpox vaccination swept the land, and when every school girl bared her arm for the medical process that necessitated a permanent scar, it is probable that neither mothers nor doctors foresaw the coming of the present-day fashions in sleeveless gowns.

Those were the days of trailing skirts, bustles, long sleeves and high feminine collars, and when the doctor inquired of the solicitous mother as to where he should put the mark upon the little girl the mother felt quite safe in choosing a position so well concealed as the upper arm.

Few mothers of those days could believe that a scar upon the arm well up toward the shoulder would ever find its way into the light of public attention, but the passing of years, with the consequent changing of styles, has brought about circumstances that were unexpected, and the marks are at last out in the open, exposed to the gaze of whoever cares to look.

Observing persons assert they have little difficulty in telling the age of a young woman merely by noting the kind and size of vaccination scar. The doctors at one time thought it necessary to make marks the size of a half dollar, but with the passing of years they became smaller and smaller until now a scratch that is almost invisible is all the process requires. The girl whose vaccination mark corresponds to the size of a dime, belongs to a different period from the girl with the nickel mark, the quarter mark or the half-dollar mark, and with the donning of the sleeveless gown she feels that her age is stamped indelibly upon her.

The modern physician's system marks an advance in surgical science that will be appreciated by the debutante a decade or so hence.

BOYS OF 1,400 YEARS AGO

Field Museum at Chicago Has Beautiful Chinese Painting Which Shows Youngsters at Play.

In a room of Chinese art relics in the Field Museum of Natural History at Chicago hangs a curious, beautiful painting on silk, called "A Hundred Boys at Play." It is a panel, many yards long, which was made during the Sung period of Chinese history, about 1,400 years ago, by an artist named Su Hanchen.

There you may see a hundred Chinese boys busily occupied with indoor and outdoor pastimes. And from the expressions on their little painted faces it seems that they are about as boisterously happy at their play as boys of the present day. The interesting part is to see that the games they played in China so long ago were the same sort that boys play now.

Those boys even seemed to know a form of football, for you see boys scrambling for a kicked ball. Others are wrestling, shooting at targets, playing war and amusing themselves with fighting crickets. Still others are engaged in less active sports, such as playing chess, riding hobby horses, flying kites, dancing and playing the organ and lute.

On one bank sits a boy with a fishing pole. Across from him a Chinese friend has set up a store and is a merchant.

Disillusioned.

She had come to New York to study art. She was only sixteen, and when she heard that her roommate was to be a Spanish girl she was thrilled. She was really seeing life, to be in New York and to have a romantic, ardent Spaniard for a roommate. Perhaps she would even stab a lover or two.

The Woman saw the young girl the other day.

"And your roommate? Is she exciting?" the Woman asked.

"Exciting," sneered the girl, "anything but! She practices scales so diligently I feel as though I'll go mad, and she's so proper and modest that she even wears high-necked and long-sleeved nightgowns made of thick cotton."—New York Sun and Globe.

Powdered "Pharaoh" Wanted.

Powdered "Pharaoh" was one of the sovereign remedies of medieval times. It cured wounds. It was made into salves and balsams. It was swallowed as a physic. It formed the basis of all the black arts.

Othello's dykeskerchief owed its magic power to hydes made from mummified maidens' hearts. The witches in "Macbeth" gave potency to their charmed brew by adding powdered mummy. To such an extent was tomb-robbing carried on even in ancient times that mummies of the great kings were taken from their own tombs and hidden away in secret places, while proxies were left in their stead.—Detroit News.

The Honest Neighbor.

At dusk a suburbanite headed sheepishly across to the next abode, called out the occupant and said: "Mr. Wombat, I want to return your lawn mower."

Wombat declined to take it, whereupon the other man was much perturbed.

"I know I have kept it a long time," he murmured, "pardon me and let me return it."

To which Wombat responded: "I must be honest with you. I had only one lawn mower and neighbors have already returned six."

Thought for the Day.

Life is a game of give and take, and the reason some people do not get more out of it is because they take more than they give.

President Calvin Coolidge made his first public address since leaving office when he opened the annual convention of the American Red Cross. This photograph shows the President and members of the Executive and Central committees before the Red Cross Headquarters. Left to right, in the front row, are John D. Ryan, Elliott Wadsworth, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury; John Barton Payne, chairman of the American Red Cross; President Coolidge, Secretary Herbert Hoover, Robert W. Bliss, and C. Bascomb Slamp, President Coolidge's secretary.

The management has retained the greatest features of former years and made many additions to this season's performances, including a notable display of trained wild beasts.

Beautiful women, handsome horses and scores of interesting wild animals in the Sparks zoo will be seen in the splendid mile-long street parade at 10:30 on the morning of circus day. Three brass bands and two steam calliopes will furnish music for this feature.

Performances begin at 2 and 8 p. m. and the public will be admitted one hour earlier to visit the comprehensive menagerie. Seats may be secured at the Alabama Drug Store on circus day at the same price charged at the show grounds.

What do you do with discarded safety razor blades.

"My little boy is sick this morning," observed Able.

"Is he?" remarked his friend sympathetically.

"No, Ike."

A Heluva Fix

Dear Customers: Some miscreant used the office cat's typewriter a few days ago and broke off a letter that is essential to getting out this department of delight as any other is the alphabet. We are placed in the unfortunate predicament of not being able to tell what letter it is, but whatever letter should be substituted in the alphabet, it is the one that is missing. Until needed repairs are made the office cat is going to be handicapped. This is the only excuse we have to offer for the $38.00 appearance of this column for the past few days. You can understand just how we are handicapped and we are just as sorry as you are. Maybe more so. You'll have to pardon the way this affair looks today. We can't help it.

A man would have his shoes shined oftener that he does if it wasn't for the fact that he can always find one of his wife's stockings lying around the bedroom to rub his shoes off with.

That writer who says there is no logical reason for the steady increase of divorce should study the pile of tin cans in the alley.

Life is just taking one damned substitute after another.

Statistics show that the cigarette has made the cigar unpopular. You might have supposed that the cigar's unpopularity was its own fault. It is because comparatively few men have the nerve to borrow a cigar.

Advertising takes the bun out and puts the boom in business.

If you're "agin" everything you're a conservative; if you're for everything you're a progressive.

To keep the neighbors from worrying, it has been suggested that the words "paid for" be painted on the spare tires of all motor cars not mortgaged.

Something to be thankful for; the syrup and two-story biscuit crop isn't going to be a failure.

You can't make a good job of painting the town red with water colors.

Again the Malady of Youth.

Our recent note on James Lowell's confession of unimpaired youth" has led a correspondent to send us the following quotation from the letters of Franklin K. Lane: "Although an 'aged man,' as I was once described in my hearing, I am the youngest thing inside that I know. In my youth and my truthfulness and imagination and my desire to help my belief in goodness and justice." Boston Transcript.

Generals Getting Ready for Ky. State

LEXINGTON, Va., Oct. 12.—With the scene of the Washington and Lee gridiron activities shifted from a northern field to southern ones, deep interest is being manifested in the remainder of the 1923 schedule. Aside from the West Virginia tilt at Charleston November 10, the remaining games on the card for the present season are with Southern teams.

Wells DeHart and his proteges are preparing for the Kentucky state battle next Saturday, local followers of the Big eleven are talking of the two important games scheduled with Virginia, the annual meet with Va. Tech set for Oct. 27th at Lynchburg and that with the University of Virginia, a week later, on the local field. The Va. Tech game already being discussed and anticipated, with even more vigor than usual, due to the overwhelming defeat sustained by the Generals at the hands of the Blacksburg eleven last season. That the White and Blue does not mean to suffer a repetition self evident and those fortunate enough to witness the "hilly city" are sure to be treated to a rare exhibition of gridiron tactics.

Special trains have already been chartered to carry the entire student body as well as hundreds of townspeople to the scene of the conflict and each day sees increasing interest in the annual event. Washington and Lee have always been great rivals in any branch of sport, and no single game on the schedule holds quite the place in the hearts of the alumni and followers of the two institutions, that the annual football clash does. The 1923 classic between the two schools promises to surpass in size importance, and universal interest and previous event.

Widow Cries for Joy

"I couldn't eat anything but raw eggs and sweet milk and was so weak I could hardly walk across the room I would have been in my grave today if I hadn't taken May's Wonderful Remedy when I did. When I think how I have suffered with my stomach and how good I feel now I cry for joy." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. JOE WHEELER CHAPTER U. D. C. MISS LEADINGHAM HOSTESS.

The Joe Wheeler Chapter U. D. C. met Thursday afternoon with Miss Leadingham hostess. Mrs. L. A. Hobart, the president was in the chair. After reading of the ritual in unison, Mrs. D. C. Almon acted as chaplain in the absence of Mrs. O. B. Cartwright.

The reading of the minutes of the last meeting and roll call by Mrs. Hanson, secretary, was followed by a very interesting discussion of "Reunions," led by Mrs. D. C. Almon. It is heart-breaking to realize just how time is thinning the ranks of those fine old Confederate heroes. This realization is greatest to those in the habit of attending the reunions.

At the close of the program the hostess invited the ladies to remain for a social hour, when she served delicious cake and cream, Mrs. Hanson assisting. Souvenirs of many reunions were exhibited. Vases of tall flowers were everywhere, crimson and cream predominating.

THURSDAY CLUB.

The Thursday club met this week with Mrs. B. M. Bloodworth as hostess and Mrs. Lynn was the only guest besides club members.

The club prize was awarded to Mrs. Bloodworth, and a handkerchief was given as a souvenir to the guest. A salad course was served after the game.

Mrs. Neill Speaks at Capital Today

Mrs. L. A. Neill, formerly president of the Alabama Woman's Federated Clubs, will represent the club at the Columbus Day conference, United States Section of the Pan-American International Woman's Convention. The meeting was announced to be held in the "Pan American" building at Washington. Charles E. Hughes, Mrs. Herbert Hoover and other nationally known people are down for addresses.

Mrs. Neill, will be the personal representative of Mrs. Val Taylor of Uniontown, the present President of the state federation of Woman's Clubs.

"Bubbles" was produced at the Masonic theater before a small audience last night. The production was big in every sense of the word, really great artists giving a presentation that for excellence was never excelled here. The public owes to Mr. McRae much appreciation for bringing so superior an organization to this city. The play is a composite of pathos and humor, which, in the hands of such performers, reaches a level rarely attained in amusement lines here.

Mrs. Collis Jones returned Wednesday to her home in Chicago, Ill., after a short visit to Mrs. Frank Brown and Mrs. H. T. Gill.

Mrs. C. Darby who is visiting in Tennessee, is expected home on Monday.

Little Miss Jane Thompson had her tonsils removed this morning.

Mrs. W. T. Barnes is ill at her home in Moulton Heights.

H. R. Summers, license inspector of this county, again has been named to occupy the same position by the state tax commission. He will have the counties of Morgan and Cullman in his jurisdiction.

NEW AREA IN FLYING NEAR

Inexpensive Transportation Fore-shadowed by Remarkable Success Attained by Motor Gliders.

A new era in air flying, that of cheap, safe, popular, airplaning, is foreshadowed by the remarkable success attained by tiny British airplanes called motor gliders. One of these, a small monoplane fitted with a three-horse power engine, recently reached a speed of 53 miles an hour during tests near London. It climbed to 2,350 feet, and, although in the air for an hour and 20 minutes, consumed less than a gallon of gasoline.

French aviation experts also are perfecting similar "pocket-planes," intended for use by amateur aviators and sporting enthusiasts. In England a small "car with wings," capable of carrying its owner through the air at the speed of an express train with no more power than is required by a motorcycle, has reached such a practical stage that orders are being booked for it by the public.

Rising out of small fields and being wonderfully controllable in the air, these cheaply-run winged cars are to be made to alight so slowly that the risk of a crash on landing, even under adverse circumstances, will be practically eliminated. Furthermore, such machines will be so handy on the ground, and their wings will fold so neatly, that it will be possible to house them in ordinary motor garages.

It is expected that the owner of one of these machines will be able to make the trip from London to Paris and back, sweeping high over the channel and escaping all the irritations and delays of earth transport, for about $2.00. The new movement is now on foot to get motor-garage proprietors to set aside smooth-surfaced fields, marked clearly so they can be seen from above. In this way the drivers of little "air cars," when on week-end aerial rambles, will have points all over the country where they can descend and replenish their gasoline tanks, or make any necessary repairs or adjustments.

Must Guard Our Pheasants.

The shots and shells of the World war are even now damaging the game birds of America, indirectly but none the less vitally. Lee S. Crandall, curator of birds of the New York Zoological park, in a report to the American Game Protective association warns that unless the few fortunate possessors of aviary pheasants cherish and increase them during the coming breeding season all species are in danger of becoming virtually extinct. The industry of collecting and distributing wild birds and animals has been badly demoralized by the war and American breeders can no longer depend upon European importations for supply, he explained. The seed stock of many kinds of game birds and waterfowl has become dangerously reduced and even if it is possible to obtain fresh stock, the newly-imported, wild-caught birds often breed with great reluctance and years must pass before a prolific breeding strain can be developed from them.

Center of Goldfish Industry.

What makes Philadelphia the center for breeding those rare and wonderful fish one sees in an aquarium? Experts tell me it is the center and regularly produces the largest crop of goldfish of unusual types and other strange kinds of what I may call toy fish. You will find the reason for this odd industry in those despoiled ditches which crisscross the Neck.

It seems that even a parlor fish thrives best on its natural food. Fish culturists know that and so they go down to the Neck and scoop up from these stagnant water-holes and trenches the larvae which to a fish are as beefsteak and baked potatoes to an athlete.

I have it from a sea captain who has been everywhere that here he finds the largest variety and best specimens of those fish which are meant to please the eye, but not appease the stomach.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

To Hunt Fossils in Patagonia.

A five-year hunt for fossils of extinct species of mammals which appeared ages ago, will be begun soon, when Prof. Elmer S. Riggs, associate curator of paleontology of the Field Museum of Natural History, of Chicago, and three assistants will sail for Buenos Aires on the first leg of their expedition. After exploring the Argentine pampas, the party will strike southward along the Atlantic coast as far as the Straits of Magellan. In places the work will be along beaches where the ledges are accessible only a few hours each day. In the extremity of Patagonia, a land of strange legends and folk-story, the party will search for fossil remains of unique and much more ancient animals, which existed in South America in the ages when it was almost as widely separated from North America as Australia is now separated from Asia. This isolation accounts for strange fossils.

Acts to Save Animals' Teeth.

The Royal Zoological society which runs the "zoo" in Regents' park has a new curator and one of the first things he did when he assumed office was to put the apes on a diet of hardtack so as to save their teeth, which were becoming loosened on a diet of bananas, potatoes, oranges, and bread. The trouble seemed to be a loosening of the teeth like pyorrhea. The unwilling boarders at the zoo take to the hardtack and seem to prefer it to the soft food.

The Staff of Life.

If all the bread the average person eats in a year were baked in one loaf it would take three strong men to lift it and a horse to pull it. The weight of the loaf would be 397 pounds.

ALTHOUGH SEVENTY YEARS OLD BRITT IS STILL WORKING HARD

Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup has created a sensation where it has been introduced as the result of its undoubted powers in restoring weak, run-down, suffering and women to the joys of perfect health.

A remarkable instance of strength and vitality being conserved in old age through the use of Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup is that of F. R. Britt, a well known resident of Eclectic, Ala., who says:

"I am 70 years old and feel as strong and well as anybody and can work as hard as I ever could. I have used Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup for 47 years and it is the best medicine I ever took. When I feel a bit tired or worn out I take it and am soon all right."

This excellent tonic is compounded from the favorite prescription of Dr. H. S. Thacher, who for many years practiced his profession with success in Chattanooga, Tenn. It is sold by all good druggists, and if the first bottle fails to help you your money will be refunded.

COMBS OF WOOD

Woman of Ancient Egypt Used Boxwood Ornaments.

Prof. S. J. Record of Yale University Describes Various Kinds of Wood Used Centuries Ago.

The tresses of a pharaoh's daughter were dressed with combs of wood, says Prof. S. J. Record of Yale university, who recently made a study of the different kinds of woods used by the ancient Egyptians. These combs were made of boxwood, which was much used for carrying by the early Egyptians, and they were not greatly dissimilar to some of the combs which adorn the women of the Twentieth century.

"As one wooden object after another from the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen has been described and pictured in the public press, many questions have arisen," writes Mr. Record. "What kinds of woods are these? Whence did they come? What preservatives have kept them sound for thousands of years? How can these woods be identified today?"

Professor Record's studies included the woods representative of the period from 2900 B. C. to 1200 B. C. Wood played an important part in the lives of these Egyptians and it had to be hauled very long distances. Cedar, he found to be one of their most prized woods, the most famous species being the cedar of Lebanon, which is so myth, as some are inclined to believe.

The Egyptians used cedar extensively for coffins, boxes, large effigies and for such general purposes as we use white pine. They also used cypress, another wood of great durability. The gopher wood used in making the Ark of the Covenant was probably cypress, according to Professor Record.

The yew, a tree noted for its durability as the cedar and the cypress, was used by the Egyptians in the making of bows, carvings and small implements. Sycamore was used for mummy cases, but the sycamore of the ancients was a fig, an evergreen timber tree sometimes called a fig mulberry.

These species were employed where large sizes were demanded, while in the manufacture of smaller articles the Egyptians used such local growths as was available, which apparently was limited to tamarisk, alder and other minor species. The Egyptians were skilled woodworkers, cabinet makers and wood carvers.

Wood veneering is not an ultra-modern accomplishment, but it is in fact a practice of venerable antiquity. It was developed by the Egyptians several thousand years before the birth of Christ. Professor Record found an admirable example of this craftsmanship in the coffin of the monarch Nephthys from Meir, displayed in the Ninth Egyptian room of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York.

That these woods used by the Egyptians have endured the centuries, Professor Record attributes to the dry climate of Egypt and not to any preservatives employed. Professor Record identified the different woods by subjecting them to intensive study under the microscope and comparing their cell structure with that of the species as found growing today.—American Forestry Magazine.

Across Empty Continent.

Two explorers, seventy-year-old twins, by the bye, have just crossed Australia from south coast to north coast and back, covering nearly 6,000 miles in 67 days with three motor cars. The explorers passed through vast stretches of country without sign of man or beast, an experience, Captain White considers, which most strikingly justifies the late Lord Northcliffe's lament over the folly and menace of the "Empty Continent." Mr. McCallum, one of the two brothers, says he was amazed at the abundance of fertile country through which they passed in the interior, and mentions one plain, 150 miles long and extending east and west as far as the eye can see, consisting of splendid alluvial soil. They passed through superb pastoral areas with many rivers available for huge irrigation schemes, but the development of these lands would be absolutely dependent upon the building of a direct north-south transcontinental line.

The Fond Parent.

The boy who had scratched his name on the paint of the stationary motor-car had been soundly cuffed by the owner.

Attracted by the loud howling which resulted, a crowd soon gathered, through which the father of the boy pushed his way.

"Who struck my son?" he demanded furiously. "Show me the man!"

The motorist stepped forward. He was 6 feet 2 inches in height and 40 round the chest.

"I did," he said.

"Served him right, sir," said the man, touching his cap. "I'll give him another hiding when I get him home."

On the Safe Side.

"I see you have put lightning rods on your new barn."

"Had to do it," answered Farmer Cornstossel.

"You said years ago that lightning rods were useless."

"Yep. Science has been mighty busy since then. If they kin prove that the old law of gravitation ain't workin' any more there's no tellin' but what they've given us a new kind of electricity."

Japanese Story-Tellers.

Public story-tellers still earn a good livelihood in Japan. In the large cities and towns hundreds of them ply their trade, provided with a small table, a fan and a paper wrapper to illustrate and emphasize the points of their tales.

Quick Changes Made In Daily's Contest

In, which brings their standing up in the front line.

Keep on your good work and try to put yourself away in the lead. See every one of your friends and get them to help you. Now is the time you should not lose a minute. This is the time for you to catch that big Buick Four or one of the other valuable prizes that the Decatur Daily is going to give away on the 17th of November with out any cost to the winners.

So now is the time to work for dear life. This is the most important period in the campaign, and it will not be repeated again. The sets will be smaller after Oct. 13, so get all you possibly can before that date. If you have any friends who are going to help you by giving you a subscription get it before Oct. 13. If anyone whose name is in the published list has not as yet received their book, call the campaign manager at once and he will bring you one. The list of candidates and the votes each have to their credit will appear tomorrow.

Mrs. Mike Zankofsky of Albany is out to win one of these fine cars. The campaign department just received several subscriptions from the friends of Miss Carrol Lee Speake of Decatur Mrs. J. T. Patterson of Falkville is stepping on the gas this week by the looks of things.

Ford Cars Now at Lowest Level

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 11.—Ford cars are at a new low price level through an announcement effective October 2, made by Edsel B. Ford, President of the Ford Motor Company Detroit.

This reduction in the prices of Ford cars and trucks is in line with the well established policy of the company.

The new prices apply to the Ford Veeck purchase plan. Persons enrolled under the plan and who have not yet taken delivery of their cars automatically benefit by the reduction in prices.

The last price reduction by the Ford Motor Company was made about one year ago, October 17 last, bringing the prices of the Ford cars at that time to the lowest level in the history of the company.

No change is made in the price of Lincoln cars and none is contemplated.

Faces in Profile.

FOR CONSTIPATION

Black-Draught Recommended by an Arkansas Farmer Who Has Used It, When Needed, for 25 Years.

Hatfield, Ark.—Mr. O. W. Parsons, a well-known farmer on Route 1, this place, says: "I keep Black-Draught in my home all the time. It is the best all-around medicine I have ever found for the liver and for constipation. We began using it 25 or more years ago and have used it whenever needed since. I have never found any other medicine as good for constipation, and that was what I suffered with till I began using Black-Draught. Black-Draught corrected this condition and now we use it for the liver and for indigestion—a tight and sluggish feeling after meals, for bad taste in the mouth and sour stomach."

"My wife uses it for headache and biliousness. It sets on our shelf and we don't let it get out. It has been a great help to us. I believe a great deal of sickness is caused by hurried eating and constipation, and Black-Draught, if taken right, will correct this condition."

"That Dainty flour makes your biscuits better than ever"

"I can't help coming back for more since you've been using Dainty flour. Your biscuits and pies always were pretty fine, but now they're wonderful. Not only light and fluffy, but they have such a delicious appetizing flavor."

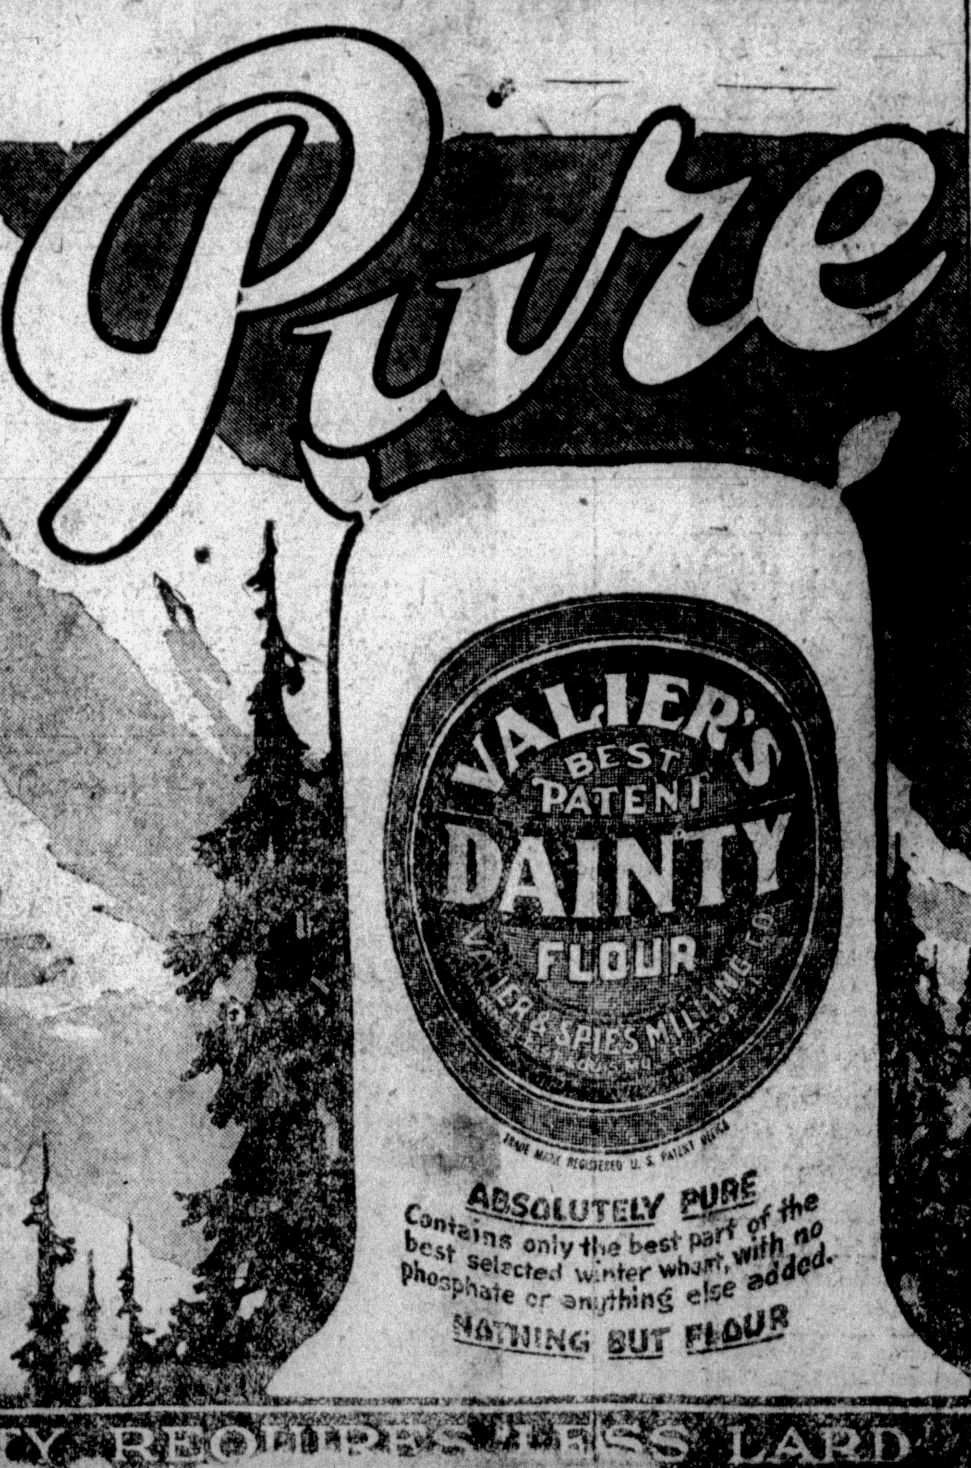

"I know, John. Why, our grocer told me today that Dainty is made of nothing but the very heart of the kernels from the finest soft wheat, with absolutely no phosphate or anything else added. And he said a slow milling process retains the natural rising quality, delicious flavor and other good points that only such fine wheat has."

"Well, no wonder they don't add anything to Dainty! They couldn't possibly improve such wonderful flour, no matter what they added. It's perfection as it is, and so is your baking since you started using it. People that bake with ordinary flour don't know what they are missing by not using Dainty."

The difference between the price of Dainty and ordinary flour is less than it has been in years, due to favorable crop conditions.

If you are not yet a user of Dainty, now is the time to begin.
